

Week 9 - Day 1 (Group Discussion)

Mar 7, 2016

Paper: Due april 22nd.

Interpersonal issue someone is willing to share with the class:

- Very hectic night at Cypress Inn. Their water shut off and they had to close, but people took it out on her
  - Analyze the problem
  - What interpersonal ideas and concepts can we apply to the scenario?
  - Julia: Do you want out of the situation?
  - What's it going to take to feel better about it?
    - It's an I-it relationship and we don't have to do any relationship repair work
      - What is a better way to handle a similar situation for when it arises?
  - Examine relationship
    - I-it or I-you relationship
    - communication climate
    - chilling effect
      - If you really tell her what you think, she might not schedule you for prime hours

Take an interpersonal issue that you are having and apply all of these interpersonal communication topics to it. Then do additional research about what you wish you knew about the issue. Google something specific to your issue

Water issue: it's actually illegal to be open without working bathrooms

Ex: you're working part time for a small business and your boss is doing something that you know is wrong. How do you handle it?

- Someone worked at footlocker
  - Her bosses rigged it to where they and their friends would win raffled off shoes

Big aluminum company got a new boss

- He started every meeting off with safety and emergency issues
  - He discovered that people in his company couldn't tell people up a level about their safety
  - He gave every employee his home phone number
- If that was the one you wanted to pick, you would do 1 page sort of personal
  - the rest is 5 pages research
  - an interesting paper last semester: friend and friend's boyfriend got in a fight and the boyfriend slapped the girl.

Has a friend that's a girl and a friend that's a guy, but one of them had been in a relationship for a long time with one of the guys and slept with the dude's best friend

What does alcohol do to relationships?

- We excuse behaviors with it and what not

More research you do, the easier it is to write the paper
